“Discovering Our Roots”

On April 7, 2024, area religious school students and their parents, grandparents and other Jewish community members will attend a program at the five adjacent Jewish Cemeteries on Pitman Avenue in Hamilton, NJ, Oh, the stories they could share ... and will!

Re-enactors, many of them students, will tell an ancestor’s story — their own, or that of someone buried there whom they have researched. They will engage attendees in dialogue and answer questions about these early area residents’ life and times, and the role their Jewish identity had in shaping their stories.

GPS DIRECTIONS:
133 Pitman Avenue, Hamilton Township, NJ 08610

headstones.

Trees, candles, prayer shawls, cameos, and many other iconic images and carvings add context to the lives and deaths of those whose final resting place is now under the care of the Greater Trenton Jewish Cemetery Project. There’s so much to see and discover!
